1969 Woman's PAA Champion

ANN BUTZ, Suffern, New York, 1969 — Mrs. Butz is considered by many to be the greatest woman competitor shooting the Pro Tour in the United States today. Currently ranked number 1 in the country, she lays claim to 19 titles picked up over the past three years and in the process of her wins has set records in competition that have proven hard to beat. Active as a wife and mother and active and dedicated as an archery professional, Annie is a credit and an asset to the sport.

Archery Tourney Sept. 9-12

The 1971 Professional Archers' Tournament will be held here September 9th thru September 12th.

Archers from all over the United States will shoot in this the Masters of the Archery Shooting World.

The Tournament site will be the Parade Grounds at Camp Grayling, the summer home of the Michigan National Guard.

It is anticipated that over 200 archers will compete in the tournament that will officially begin with opening ceremonies scheduled for 9:00 a. m., Thursday, September 9.

Cash awards amounting to $12,000 will be awarded in the men's division and cash awards amounting to $3,000 will be awarded in the women's division.

The event is being sponsored by the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce.

Early in the fall of 1961, a group of well-known archers met in Hickory Corners, Mich. and the basics of the P.A.A. Outdoor Round were established. About a month later an experimental P.A.A. tournament was held in Cincinnati, Ohio to test the spectator and news media reaction to the tournament and the round. The spectators found it entertaining and radio coverage was made throughout the event. The success of the experiment indicated that this type of competition could be one of the future.

The Indoor Round of the P.A.A. was developed in Michigan in 1961 and used extensively in indoor archery lanes. The round was used for the first time in a national indoor championship in 1965 and has become the standard round for professional indoor competition throughout the world. From these small beginnings the P.A.A. has evolved from a few shooting a Pro Tour of $20,000 to an organization 450 strong with a yearly indoor and outdoor tour of events totalling over $100,000 in purses.

The Association functions under the direction of its Board of Directors which consists of the President, Vice President and nine regional directors; three each from the East, Midwest and West. The Board of Directors are coordinated by the office of the Executive Secretary with headquarters based in St. Paul, Minn.

1969 Men's PAA Champion

VICTOR BERGER, Springfield, Ohio, 1967 and 1969 — German born, Berger, migrated to this country in 1956 in search of a dream of a land where a man could have his own identity. Discovering the sport of archery in 1960 the balance of his life has been spent in realizing this identity as a Professional Archer. The past ten years have found him emerging from the ranks of competitors to become not only the best in the United States, but also emerging as one of the P.A.A.'s finest sportsmen. His name, his achievements and the title of "White Knight of Pro Archery" have become synonymous with professionalism in the sport of archery.

FIRST GAME SEPT. 17

Vikings Prepare for Grid Opener

Following a week of conditioning, the Grayling Viking football hopefuls donned their pads and started head knocking last Monday in preparation for this year's gridiron season.

Head coach Mike Weiland, stated that with but three starters returning from last year's co-champions of the N.M.L., the coaching staff is faced with a rebuilding job this year, especially in the line.

With the return of Terry Fitzpatrick at quarterback, Jim Tobin at halfback and tight-end Dan Meisack, should give the Vikings a lift in the passing attack, coach Weiland said.

Dave White, the possible starting fullback, this year broke his ankle the first day of contact, and will be out for the first half of the season.

Other hopefuls fighting for positions in the backfield include: Dan Moore, Kim Parkinson, Bruce King, Mark Doty, Gary Johnson, Tom Moss, Tony and Don Latusek, Mitch Millikin, Lorne Beatty, Steve Snorback, David Shepherd and Rick Gould. Linemen under the direction of assistant coach Don Ferguson, who will be expected to fill the gap of seniors lost from last year's squad are: Mike McNamara, Steve Persing, Bob Miller, Mark Dandy, Dale Bonamie, Bob Vellmer, Steve Westervelt and Bill Weideman.

Other linemen expected to see action include: Jim Benedict, Mike Gilder, Tim Keesee, Marc Harland, Robert Wargo, Steve Church, Wade Gee and Tom Stanton.

Coach Weiland said, there was a possibility that more players may turn out after school resumes. Most of last year's undefeated JV team regulars are missing from the lineup as several have moved, but some may still report for practice that are still here.

Making up the Viking coaching staff this year besides coaches Weiland and Ferguson are: Freshman coach, Howard Lehti, JV coach, Chuck Mires; and Asst. JV coach, Lacey Stephan. The Vikings first game will be a non-conference clash with the Houghton Lake Bobcats on the local gridiron, Friday, Sept. 17 at 8:00 p.m.

Curriculum's Updated

Grayling and Frederic Elementary Schools will begin this fall with new updated curriculum guides in mathematics and language arts.

Based on the behavioral objective concept, both curriculums stress an acceptable performance criteria before advancing to the next level or task. This will enable the teacher to tailor her instruction to meet the needs of each individual child, rather than aim her instruction at groups of children within the classroom.

The curriculum guides were developed this summer by several Grayling and Frederic teachers under a federal grant. Fraser Dean developed the project and was assisted by Shirley Whipple and Carl Hatfield, who directed the language arts committee and the math committee, respectively. Other teachers who helped develop the guides were Joan Galloway, Ruth Robertson, Andy Cook, Carrie Baynham, Marie Akers, Janita Smith, and Katherine Punek.

Both guides stress sequential skill development in basic skills. The language arts program includes skill development in reading, spelling, printing, handwriting, and composition.

The project has come to the attention of several interested groups and school districts throughout the state and several requests have been received for copies of the guide.

Local Government Has Little Subdivision Control

By Willard E. Bosserman
County Extension Director

Counties and townships have virtually no control over subdivision of land.

The County Road Commission and District Health Department are the closest local units having any control. The County Plat Board and township boards must review each plat but have very little control over the plat.

Allison Green, State Treasurer anticipated this when the state subdivision act 1967 was adopted. He advised, "If local governments do not have zoning and subdivision ordinances, take immediate steps to adopt ordinances." "At this time, (1967) less than half of the incorporated villages and cities in the state have planning commissions or zoning ordinances." "Even fewer have subdivision ordinances," he said.

"The new state act establishes minimum standards for subdividing land and uniform procedure for the submission and approval of subdivision plats."

"It relies on effective local administration of the law," Green said, "and vests municipalities with additional authority." "However," he adds, "this authority cannot be invoked unless zoning and subdivision ordinances are adopted."

Some of our local townships are beginning to work on this. A citizens committee in Gerrish Township is studying the possibility of a subdivision control ordinance.

South Branch and Frederic townships are taking a look at some subdivision regulations.

Citizens' Questions on Wage-Price Order Answered at ASCS Office

Inquiries about the wage-price freeze and other aspects of the President's Executive Order on the wage increases are being answered daily at the Crawford County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Services (ASCS) Office according to Burton Griner, County Executive Director.

He reminds Crawford County residents that additional information is constantly coming to the ASCS office, which is an official center for information concerning the stabilization program.

Most questions raised by inquiries received so far relate to the wage increases on negotiated contracts and announced increases in insurance rates Mr. Griner said.

While the County ASCS office is an official center for information on the wage-price freeze, it has no authority to act on complaints or handle requests for exemptions to the freeze. Mr. Griner said. Such complaints or requests should go directly to the Internal Revenue Service District Office at Northbrook Office Bldg., 2920 Fuller, Grand Rapids, Mich. 49502. Phone (616) 364-9581. If it is not convenient, the county ASCS office can provide some assistance in putting the complaint or request in the proper channel.

He also emphasized that the county ASCS office is serving as an information center for all county residents.

Normally, the ASCS office deals primarily with farmers.

Jack Pine's Stump

The Whiz-Bangs of the archery world invaded Grayling this week for the Annual Professional Archers Association Championship. They come from all over the country, east and west, north and south and the great Midwest. And they mostly come at their own expense. Why? To compete for some $15,000 in cash prizes and the possibility of winning what they call The Blue Coat — a status symbol designating a National Champion — much like the Green Blazer of the Professional Golfers.

The whole affair is being sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce and if all goes well this year, the Championship will be sponsored by the Chamber for the following two years. A lot of planning has to go into one of these things, and the cooperation of the Michigan National Guard in providing all sorts of facilities and other aids has certainly been a major factor in setting up the Championship Meet. Local merchants and City and County officials should be thanked too.

These archers are true pros in the very best sense of the word. Cool, deliberate, patient and extremely fussy about the equipment they use. No two are alike, yet all show the mark of the dedicated professional. They know their business, take it seriously and are good sports. The shoot is open to the public, and you should go out to the Guard Camp sometime Friday, Saturday or Sunday to watch these people. The concentration on each shot will amaze you.

Dr. Paul Juntilla was telling us the other day about a kid he used to know who had a knack of saving time. Around the house he took all sorts of short cuts and saved time. The same in going to school. He just never seemed to waste any time. When he was about ten he could save almost five hours a week. When he got to college he had gathered together a whole lot of accumulated time. He never spent time foolishly and in fact he had more time than money. So he started to loan it out. He'd loan somebody seven days of time and get nine in return. As a result, a lot of people started living on borrowed time, and nobody had more time on his hands than Paul's friend. Well, one day he met a beautiful girl and became deeply enamored of her. Her influence over him was so great that he started not paying attention to time. In fact his friends said he lost track of time. And finally the poor man ran out of time and his girl friend deserted him for a man who would spend more time on her. I asked Paul what finally happened to him. "Well, I don't really know," he replied, "when I last saw him he was on Skid Row asking passers-by if they could spare a minute of their time."

The current issue of Playboy has a printable story which I liked. It concerns the fellow who came home one night a little bent out of shape. His wife was waiting for him and started to give him a hard time. He finally told her she better pack her bags. She was leaving, as he'd lost her in a poker game. "How could you DO such a thing?" she screamed at him. "It wasn't easy," he replied, "I had to fold with four aces."

A few weeks ago I wrote about parties and the ridiculous reasons most are given. I have had quite a few other good suggestions, and one actual example. A young fellow got married a few weeks ago and his male friends gave him a shower. It's a fact. The shower consisted of the sort of things every man eventually collects. Tools, sport- ing gear, camping equipment and I don't know what else. That's a real good idea, I think. Anything that can relieve budget problems for the young marrieds is a good idea. Or even old marrieds. Or even unmarrieds.

A friend at The Archery handed me a note which read, "Shoot a Bear bow and win a Diekfore". Whatever that might mean. Maybe we can find out at the PAA shoot. See you there.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

NEXT TO GODLINESS

Soap became a part of his daily life long before he understood its use. He's still more concerned with its bubbles than its cleansing properties — but he knows soap is mighty important.

And no one ever thought of postponing his bath until he was old enough to make decisions for himself!

Wise parents never postpone a child's religious training. Long before he is able to reason, he needs the character-building and guidance of the Church. Christianity should become important to him in his daily experience before its truths can be fully grasped by his mind.

Our churches are equipped to instill a vital Christian faith in the youngest child. Fortunate is the boy or girl whose parents begin his religious training early.

Unfair To All

A fundamental principle of law says that after a certain length of time the right to institute an action terminates. This principle is called the statute of limitations. There is one law, however — the Civil Rights Act of 1964 — that contains no such provisions with regard to retroactive financial obligations of an employer.

The main purpose of the Civil Rights Act was to reduce and eliminate discrimination. Equal opportunity for all as a philosophy and as a personnel practice was to lead to more jobs, promotions and upgrading. Retroactive financial restitution was not visualized. Yet financial penalties, often based on a new interpretation of the law, have become widespread. Payments, when required, may go all the way back to 1965, the date the Civil Rights Act became effective. Too frequently, they are granted to groups or classes of employees. An authority on the subject has pointed out that there is no other law that permits back pay awards without a reasonable statute of limitations. For example, the limit is two years in the Fair Labor Standards Act. As the Civil Rights Act now stands, it penalizes those who seek the hardest to live up to the spirit of the law and the equal opportunity philosophy. In the long run, the excessive liability imposed on an employer by a law with no statute of limitations would seem to inevitably weaken the effectiveness of the law and hurt the very people it is supposed to help.

The cause of civil rights and equal opportunity is poorly served when a mere alteration of the interpretation of the rules can be used as a measure of retroactive extortion. Civil rights and equal opportunity are two-way streets upon which both employer and employees should be free to travel.

Giant Giveaway

Reportedly, the deficit in the federal government's budget for the 1971 fiscal year will top $20 billion — about $100 for every person in the country. Fiscal 1972 will probably see another federal deficit of $20 billion or more — another $100 of national debt for everyone in the country. In just two years, federal deficits will approach $50 billion. The total debt of the federal government stands just short of $400 billion — nearly $2,000 per person. Interest on this incomprehensible total equals roughly $400 a year for a family of four.

With pressure increasing for expanded welfare programs of one kind or another including social security, health insurance, housing, medical care and so on without end, the prospect in the years ahead for bringing the public debt under control appears to be virtually nil — as is the outlook for controlling inflation. The one factor that could change the picture is a public awakening to the futility of the political strategy of trying to give away dollars faster than inflation destroys their value.

Openings For State Police Troopers

Young Michigan men interested in State Police careers are advised that recruiting of trooper candidates has reopened in accordance with a new Civil Service announcement, Col. John R. Plants, department director, reported.

Eligible to apply are men 21 to 30 years of age, inclusive, who are U. S. citizens and who have been residents of Michigan at least a year prior to application. They must have a high school education or the equivalent.

Plants emphasized that the State Police Department is an equal opportunity employer and urged young men of all races to apply. A State Police officer career is a challenging and rewarding one, he said.

This enlistment opportunity should be of special interest to veterans of armed services who may qualify for up to $133 monthly in government assistance over a period of 13 months. Candidates must be at least 5 feet 9 inches tall and weigh at least 150 pounds but no more than 240 with weight in proportion to height and age. They must be in good physical condition and meet certain vision and hearing standards. They must be of good moral character and have no serious arrest record. They may be married or single.

Trooper pay, including time in recruit school, begins at an annual rate of $9,228.96 or $353.60 every two weeks. The current schedule shows pay in the trooper rank climbing to maximums in five years of $12,381.84 annually or $474.40 biweekly. Longevity pay is added annually after six years of service. State Police officers can retire on pensions at half-pay after 25 years of service.

After completing five years of service, troopers become eligible to take promotional examinations. A previous requirement for transfer of new troopers after two years of service has been suspended.

Troopers are provided with free uniforms and equipment. Fringe benefits include vacations with pay, paid sick leave, and opportunity to enroll in cost-shared insurance plans.

Interested young men can obtain application blanks and more complete information on trooper careers by contacting their nearest State Police post or by writing to the Michigan Civil Service Department in Lansing.

The examination process for trooper candidates includes a written test, field investigation and appraisal, an oral appraisal at East Lansing, and a physical examination at the time of reporting for recruit school. The State Police have 28 officers throughout the state whose duties include serving as recruit specialists to expedite the processing of candidates.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wyman announce the marriage of their daughter, Jeanne Marie, to Michael Ockerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ockerman of Owosso. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Arnold Brammiller at St. John Lutheran Church in Houghton Lake Sunday evening, July 25, before the immediate families of the couple. Mrs. Lois Matter was the organist.

Miss Ruth Ann Wyman served as her sister's maid of honor and David Wyman, brother of the bride, was best man.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Following a short honeymoon, the groom has returned to his duties in Vietnam and is expected home for Christmas. The bride has returned to her work with the Department of Education in Lansing.

School Children Given Boost By State Senate

When the Senate passed and sent to the House of Representatives the $1.053 billion school aid bill, it recognized the need to support education of Michigan school children.

The bill passed last week carried an increase of about $113 million over the school aid bill for last year, which totaled $940.1 million.

House action on the bill may either increase or decrease that figure. The final school aid figure for the year will be a compromise between the Senate and House versions. While it is impossible now to say what that compromise will be, it is expected to be close to the $1.053 billion in the Senate bill.

Of the total amount, about $700 million will go directly back to local school districts as per-pupil payments.

The pay-out is based on an estimated 2,227,000 students. The measure also includes $7 million for vocational education programs and $25 million for "compensatory education programs."

"Compensatory education programs" are described as "programs designed to improve the achievement in basic cognitive skills of pupils enrolled in grades K-6 who have extraordinary need for special assistance to improve their competencies in such basic skills."

The bill also appropriated up to $400,000 "for salaries of teachers in alternative programs for pregnant persons."

Order Billboard Removal Here

LANSING — Notices went out today to owners of 19 illegal billboards, instructing them to remove the signs within 30 days.

The billboards have been erected since 1968 along Interstate 75 in Bay, Chippewa and Crawford counties. Those not removed by owners will be taken down by the Department of State Highways and the owners billed for the expense.

The signs are in addition to two other groups of 153 signs whose owners were given 30-day notifications July 1 and July 30. All the signs removed or scheduled for removal this summer are along Michigan's 949 miles of Interstate freeways. Illegal boards along other freeways and other primary highways also are targeted for removal.

According to Paul J. Marek, engineer of maintenance responsible for billboard removal, many billboard owners, once notified have been cooperative in taking action to remove illegal billboards.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth and Attorney General Frank J. Kelley are supervising the removal effort under provisions of Michigan's 1968 Billboard Control Act.

"If It Fitz . . ."—By Jim Fitzgerald*Answer me this, please

The latest gimmick in column writing enables the columnist to tell you everything he always wanted you to know but you'd never ask, you jerk. The columnist interviews himself, answering his own questions:

Question: The mayor of your favorite town just opened a new freeway by sawing a log. This is just the latest take-off on the traditional ribbon-cutting ceremony. Banks now cut ribbons of $5 bills when they open branches, and grocery stores cut strings of baloney. Can you add anything to this bit of Americana?

Answer: Certainly. The other day, soon after our family checked into a motel, I noticed my 13-year-old son taking a full bottle of gin from my portable bar. He headed for the bathroom with it. I asked him what he was doing. His explanation revealed that he has combined ribbon cutting with the christening of ships. He said he was going to use the bottle of gin to break the sanitary ribbon on the toilet seat.

Q — You and your wife and son recently spent 3 days in Detroit watching the Tigers play baseball. Earlier this season you went on the road, watching them play in Cleveland and New York. How come you go to so many Tiger games?

A — Because I can't stand to stay home and listen on the radio, or watch them on TV. Announcers George Kell and Ernie Harwell and their assistants are the biggest ho-hummers on the air. It is bad enough that they are boring. But their blatant partisanship is even worse. They never knock a Tiger. Tigers are all great players and fine human beings. Once this year Dalton Jones was playing right field and TV showed plainly that he messed up 2 fly balls that a crippled infant could have caught. Kell didn't even mention the awful goofs. What kind of reporting is that? The trouble is that Kell and company are Tiger employees and it is poor business to knock the boss in public.

Sports announcers should be employed by their radio and TV stations, not by the home team. Would you trust a labor reporter if he were on the GM payroll?

Q — Read any good books lately?

A — I just finished Frank Beard's diary of a year on the professional golf tour. It is not so good as it is incredible. Apparently without realizing it, Beard revealed himself to be 1 of the world's great cheapskates. He took his wife and 3 small children on tour and insisted that they all stay in 1 motel room. He complained bitterly about the noise and diapers but refused to rent 2 rooms "because I just can't see wasting the money." That year Beard won more than any other pro golfer, over $125,000. He could have rented 3 rooms and hired Howard Johnson to make the beds.

Q — Currently, what is your most unfavorable TV commercial?

A — That one where the boob housewife refuses to trade her box of Tide for 100 boxes of anything else, no matter how hard the huckster coaxes her. You can worry about crime in the streets. I worry about stupidity in the supermarkets. According to TV, the A & P is full of giggling women with mush for brains. They are constantly pursued up and down the aisles by smiling men with TV cameras hidden in their noses. I say bring back the old-fashioned grocery store where you simply handed the grocer your list and you didn't have to slap his hands for squeezing your toilet paper.

Q — Is it true that you celebrated your 45th birthday in an old-fashioned ice cream parlour?

A — Yes, at Farrell's, in Flint; a great place where everyone sings happy birthday and they give you a free Sundae. The experience in clean living didn't hurt me a bit but the walls of the Alibi Bar crumbled that same night. Onward and Upward. †

Almanack*Potpourri: Political Muscle Attempted

Time for another stroll barefoot among the political potpourri: ***

As the Michigan State Senate struggled with rounding up votes for the carrot-and-club constitutional amendment coupling property tax relief with a graduated state income tax, we are told that Senate Democrats were subjected to a bit of political muscle.

James M. McNeely, state Democratic party chairman, reportedly gathered Senate Democrats at a table and told them in effect: Shape up or ship out. Back the amendment or leave the Democratic party.

That's quite an order for any elective legislative body on any level to swallow. Whether McNeely's edict had any effect is difficult to ascertain. Others have tried similar approaches in the past with notable lack of success.

One of the big ones, who tried and failed in this tactic, was President Franklin Roosevelt, who sought to purge Democrats in Congress who didn't go along with some of his New Deal plans, notably the Supreme Court packing plan.

Another of more recent and local vintage was Gov. George Romney, who became quite aroused over some of his party's legislative position on apportionment.

And McNeely isn't even an elected official himself. Quite a bold move, really, by a simple party chairman. ***

The same report also quotes McNeely as indicating that the graduated income tax is so basic a part of Democratic party philosophy that no defection from that philosophy could be allowed.

Baloney, as we say in a family newspaper.

If McNeely has limited his frame of reference to Michigan Democratic party philosophy, he would have been closer to the truth; but straight Democratic party dogma embracing graduated income tax? No way.

The truth is that on such matters, both parties have as many "basic philosophies" as there are state or sectional party organizations, or factions within them, one of which may be in control of a party organization at any one time.

Not too many years ago, when the Republicans and Democrats were fighting in Michigan about tax reform—sound familiar?—the Republicans were supporting a sales tax increase, and the Democrats were fighting to establish an income tax . . . any old income tax would do.

At the same time, in some other states—Oregon and Illinois were a couple of them, if memory serves—the same fight between sales and income taxes was on. But elsewhere, the Democrats wanted the sales tax and the Republicans the income tax.

Basic party philosophy? Humbug! ***

All is not really lost these days. We note a wire service story that William Blah returned six uncashed welfare checks totaling $2,052.00 to the Ohio government because he said he no longer needed public assistance. That's hard to believe.

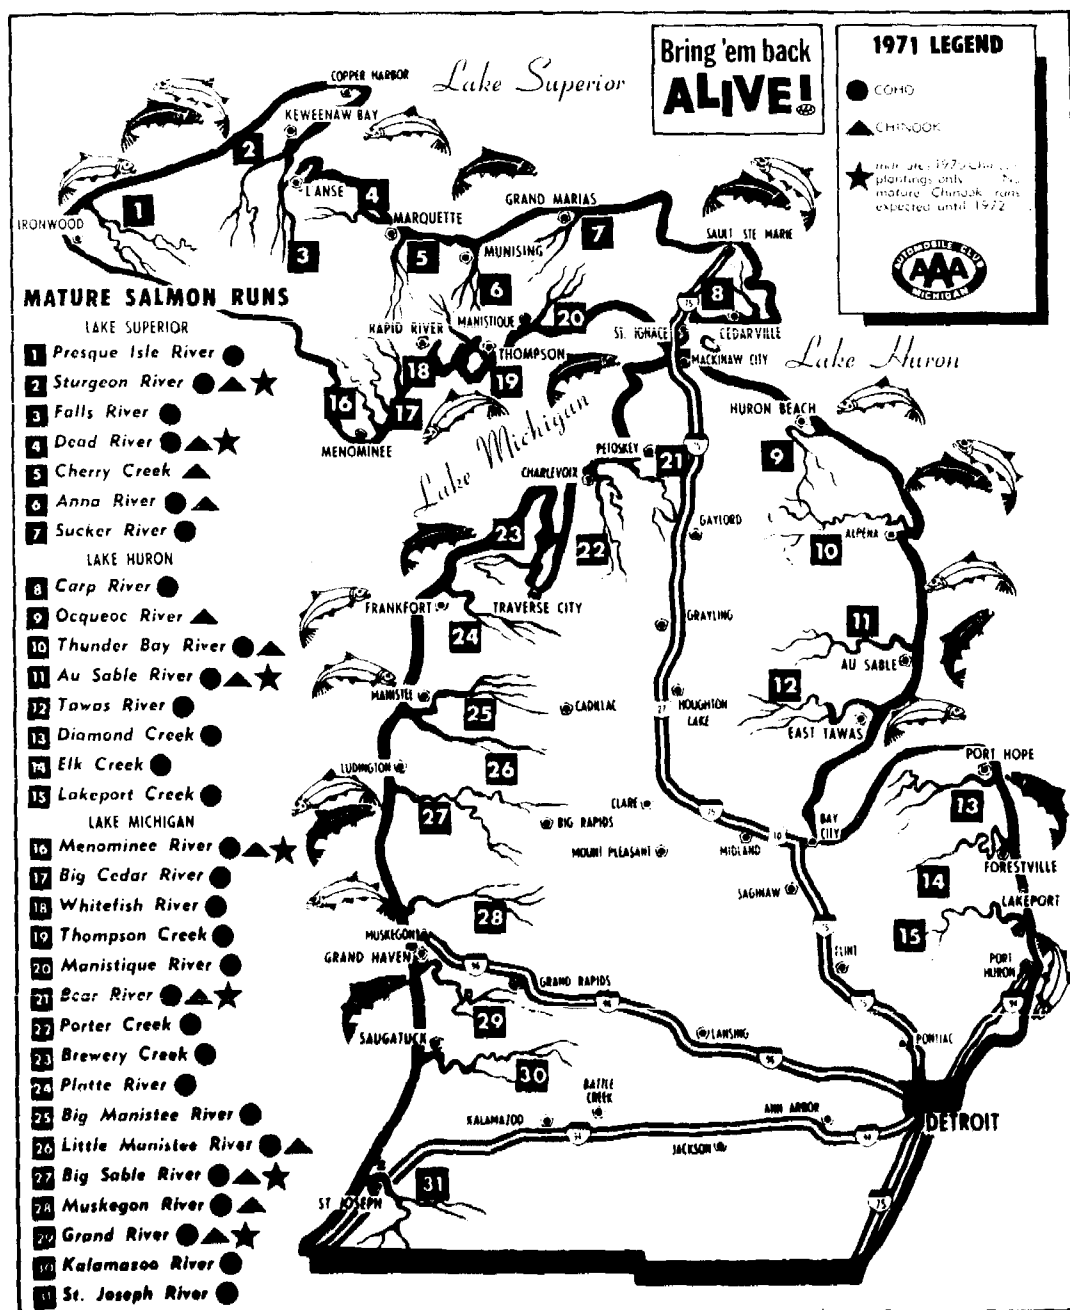

Not quite so difficult to believe is his further comment that he had told his welfare board that he didn't need the checks anymore, but they kept sending them anyway. ***

Perhaps helping to explain the rising militancy of teacher unions is the note that in the Los Angeles Community College District, painters and electricians are paid higher annual salaries than teachers.

Recent increases granted by the district give tradesmen a top salary of up to $21,484.00 a year, while the top teaching wage is $17,220.00.

The tradesmen have to work 12 months for their money, while teachers work only for the 10-month school year.

But that's little justification, in my view, for the disparity, especially when you consider the purpose of the whole educational enterprise in the first place.

LIVING- AS YOU LIKE IT

...and get more from the GOOD YEARS

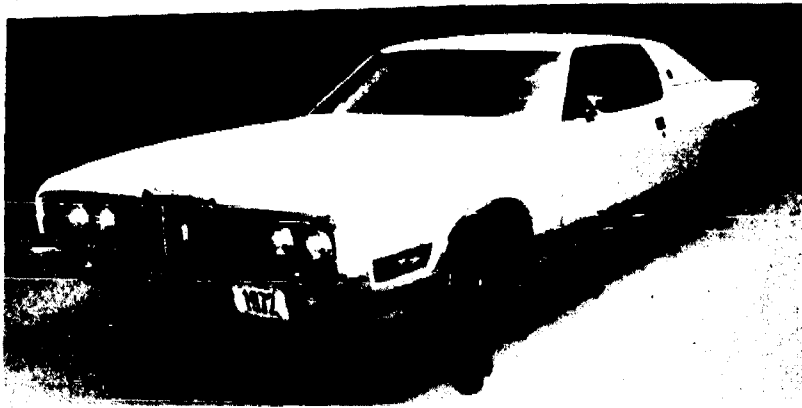

A friend has advice for those who are not yet retired. "Don't choose your retirement site from a travel brochure, or on the advice of a friend who writes and says that 'Life is grand at Sandy Beach.' The mental picture is never far from reality. If you believe you would like to live at Sandy Beach, go there, stay a few days—before you retire—and check on the cost of food and housing and what the community offers that is of interest to you."

Some people yearn to retire abroad. They read that natives in the Caribbean islands live simply and cheaply. This is true enough. But, unless one chooses to live native-style, the cost of living, American-style, (with all or most modern conveniences) can be expensive. On some islands even the drinking water is imported. Resort and vacation areas in the United States are generally expensive... unless one gets away from the crowds. In Florida, New England, California, and elsewhere, the most economical place to live and still have modern conveniences is the small town or small city in a principally agricultural or at least small industry area.

For many retirees, an ideal choice is the small city located not too far away from a metropolitan area — near enough to visit, but not close enough to affect the cost of living. But, as our friend says, look before you take everything with you.

1972 FORD LTD — A fresh front-end treatment highlighted by a new grille marks the 1972 Ford LTD. Composed of a one-piece center section flanked by separate outer sections, the grille emphasizes the long elegant look of the 1972 Fords. The new front bumper is designed with a center bar to protect the grille.

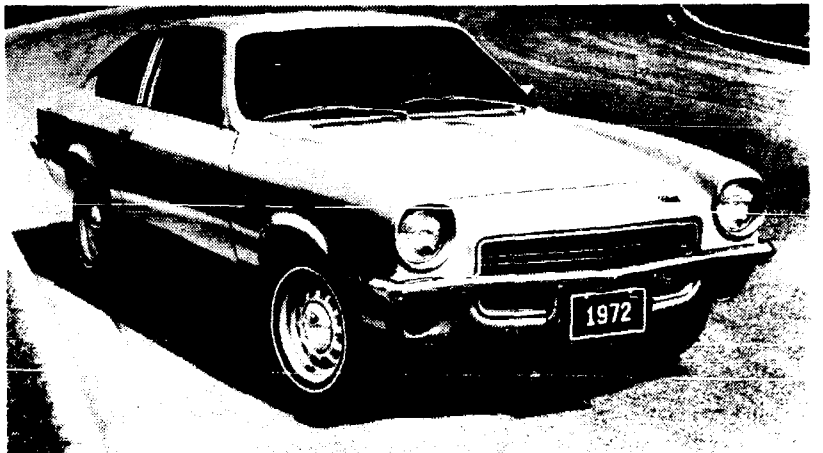

1972 MAVERICK — Virtually unchanged in 1972, Maverick's base two-door sedan has the same clean, contemporary styling that has made it a leader in the compact market. Still inexpensive to own and operate, Maverick is sturdy and reliable and is one of the most serviceable cars in the industry.

GRAYLING

Some time ago we were invited to take part in a skunk survey. (Hey, wonder if there was anything personal involved there?)

Actually, it was made by a company seeking methods best known to get rid of the results of the little critter's chemical warfare. A number of people wrote in with all manners of suggestions.

Write one fellow: "Actually you people are attacking the problem from the wrong angle. Your error is in assuming that skunk odor is objectionable. If you are not an organization man or a togetherness worshiper, you would be delighted by a good, musky, skunk odor, especially on a foggy night. It is especially good for clearing the sinuses."

"It reminds humans that there are skunks abroad — including the human kind — and that they should keep their distance. If you did away with skunk odor we might have a whole generation which would be naive, unaware and open to all kinds of confidence schemes, etc. You should develop bottled skunk odor instead of trying to get rid of it. It would put zest into living again!"

Among remedies suggested for folks who have been skunked were: "Two weeks duty at Cape Lonely, looking after the lighthouse;" whiskey ("It doesn't improve the odor but after a while you don't care.") exile ("Forget that you ever had friends in the first place.") whiskey for the victim's friends; a 30-06; or bourbon. (The WCTU certainly lost that round.)

For pets which had been skunked, these were offered: "Trade 'em;" "Drown 'em;" "Shoot 'em;" "Keep throwing them into a running stream;" "Chloroform;" "Let the vet handle the mess;" "Banishment — if you can make the pet understand he is being banished;" and "Let the silly things stink." (Please, we are only reporting this.)

As for prevention to keep skunks away from the house in the first place: "Use shotgun;" "Live in city;" "Live trapping;" "Build house on tall, slippery stilts;" "Dig moat and stock with alligators;" and "Be nice to them, it's not the skunk that's bad, it's what he does if he doesn't like you."

To get rid of skunks holed up under a cottage, one writer recommended waiting until the little stinkers were under the building, then digging a hole three feet deep in front of the exit. "The skunk comes out, falls into the hole and can't get out. You shoot him and then fill the hole, covering carcass and odor all at once time," he said. (He forgot to mention what happens if the skunk comes out while you are digging the hole.)

Most seriously recommended antidotes for skunked people and pets included baths with vigorous scrubbing, using canned tomatoes (pulp was better than the juice); ammonia; vinegar; pine-scented bubble bath; bleach; kerosene; nail polish remover; witch hazel; blackberry juice; and deodorant.

Our personal recommendation is to get a spray can or two of pine-scented air freshener and to spray heck out of the object which has served as the skunk's target. This will usually do the trick.

EDITOR'S MAIL BOX

Frederic, Mich.
To The Editor:
I am wondering why the A.D.C. or the welfare does not look into the families that are getting aid? I know of families that are drawing this, and then they are in the beer gardens every week. Why don't the welfare hire people to look into these cases. We have to work and save, and deprive ourselves of things that we would like to have, just so these kind of people can drink and have a good time and take it easy and enjoy their drinking. We have to pay taxes, so they can enjoy themselves. How much goes for their children's welfare?

They argue, fight and go to court and we pay the consequence for it. It would be nice if the welfare people would check into it and see how the money is spent.

Lots of these people on welfare are able to work but they are too busy trying to convince others that they are sick. Why should we be deprived of things, just to satisfy them? There are people that are on welfare that need it.

Signed: Disgusted

Ausagra Acres Activities

The Senior Citizens at the Center here in Grayling wish to thank the 107th Engineers, from Ishpeming, Mich. for their generosity in donating bread, rolls, eggs, and other foods, which they had as a surplus after completing their encampment at Camp Grayling. The Senior Citizens made good use of the food items in a number of different ways. Everyone at the Center certainly appreciates their thoughtfulness.

40 Senior Citizens from the area spent the Labor Day weekend at Mackinac Island at the Grand Hotel. There were 500 Senior Citizens from all over the state taking part in this FUN weekend.

There will be a MYSTERY TRIP on September 23rd — Cost is $5.00. Anyone who wants to go, come in and sign up at the office.

Be sure and pick up a bulletin at the bank, your church, or at the center for a complete listing of activities and coming events. Lora Gould, Director

NOTES FROM LANSING

BY LOU CRAWTON

Winding up — The push is on to wind up the work on the budget bills and get away for a long rest. Republican strategy here in the House is to try to get all the spending bills sent to conference committee (made up of members from both the Senate and House) where, hopefully, further cuts will be made.

Eighty or $100 million must be cut to balance the budget — or such is the old fashioned idea embodied in the State Constitution — and it has been amply demonstrated that the Republicans are unable to count on enough Democrat votes to make the cuts by amending bills on the floor. (A major victory was the cutting of $2.4 million from the $538 million Social Services — welfare — spending bill. With victories like that, war sure is hell.)

These efforts, of course, are branded "obstructionism" by the Democrat leadership who are trying to send all of the over-inflated bills to the Governor "as is". The House membership is constantly being told "if we'd just buckle down and do our work" we can get away on vacations sooner. Translated that means accept what is put before us without question and vote our approval quickly. (Some of us don't think that is what you folks are paying us for.)

I get a clear picture from my mail that folks in my district want real drug law enforcement (most of you want the law modified to deal more realistically with such offenses as possession or use of marijuana — but you want the laws enforced).

We had a knock-down-grag-em-out battle to keep money in the State Police budget to set up a narcotics squad to really go after the big guys in the vicious drug traffic — that metropolitan police seem unable to reach. We just barely succeeded in keeping it in the House. The Senate, unfortunately to my way of thinking, cut it back by more than half and there is a strong likelihood it will disappear completely when the conference committee starts to work it over.

Some said I was very inconsistent to fight for that money for the State Police while I was consistently voting for spending cuts and even voting against budget bill after budget bill that I regarded as calling for expenditures the State could not fund. Okay — it was inconsistent — but I still think it made good sense. The drug problem is such a serious threat to our way of life that I am willing to cut back the funding of many other worthy things that I would normally be all for — if there is not money enough for both — and, believe me, there is not enough money — even with the increased income tax my colleagues have voted for everything that we all may want.

And in one instance we are talking about a million bucks to put the State Police in the drug enforcement picture — that's a lot of money — but we are talking of the need to cut $20 million out of the revenue sharing bill (we cut $6 million — a very modest beginning) and we should have cut the Social Services appropriation not less than twenty-some million — better it would be if it were about $40 million (and as I said, we trimmed $2.4 million — big deal — and left it open ended as to its spending by the Social Services Department).

The Education (K-12) appropriation bill is being carefully kept in the closet by the Democrats controlling the Appropriations Committee of the House. This, the largest package under the Christmas tree — well over a billion dollars — will be dumped on our desks next week (9-7, 8 or 9) with much "rush-rush" urgency and the reminders that "we all want to go home".

Properly — we should have had this bill back in March — or even April — and had it for a week or two so that we could pull it apart and analyze it. That is what the civics books told you and me a legislature is supposed to do. That is not the way the folks running the show down here do it. School districts should have — need — to know what the state school aid will be in the Spring. Speaker Ryan & Co having thrown away all time tables let's Labor Day slip by without accomplishing what should have been one of the session's first priorities.

We "obstructionists" will try to cut the Education appropriation some by amending it on the Floor of the House. I am not optimistic. Brace yourself, taxpayer, here we go again. No crystal ball is needed to predict we will again over appropriate on this measure as we have on almost all so far — and then, well into the fiscal year, the State will "wesh" on its commitments to the kids, their teachers and the parents.

The Avalanche's Tip of the Hat to ...

John and Pete Latuszok on the tearing down of the two old homes on the corner of Norway St. and M-72 west, recently. One more step in the removal of unsightly buildings not in use that enhances the appearance of Grayling.

We have to admit, that many things are just taken for granted. It was brought to our attention that nothing has been said about the appearance of the new bank. So, belatedly, the officers of the Grayling State Bank are to be congratulated on the new bank facilities and the landscaping on Michigan Ave., that certainly is an improvement to the down town business area.

P.A.A. President

Dave Staples, President
Professional Archers Association

Dave Staples, at the age of thirty-two, is the youngest man ever to have held the highest executive office of the Association. Even more unusual than this, is the fact that he has been involved in the administration of Pro Archery on a national level since the age of twenty-five.

His dynamic talent has been a major contributing factor in the growth of the P.A.A. from a handful of people to an organization with a membership of over 450 and an established Pro tour of archery competitions whose purse values have a habit of doubling yearly.

Within the organizational structure of the P.A.A. several committees function to provide the work effort to expand and reach the goals of the Association. These committees are under the direction of the Board of Directors and are responsible for the growth of the organization.

The Tournament Committee establishes both the Indoor and Outdoor Tour of purse events in the United States and maintains a staff of trained negotiators and management officials qualified to assist sponsors in conducting tournaments. All money tournaments of any significance that are held in the country must receive the sanction of the P.A.A. Tournament Committee and be conducted under the requirements of this sanction.

The Promotional Committee provides the public relations efforts of the Association in all of its phases from Sanctioned Tournament promotion to the promotion of the individual members. The Committee also maintains a staff of qualified people who work in the areas of coordination with press, commentators at events, staff writers and photographers.

The Instructional Committee is responsible for the development and updating of programs for archery instruction. Committee responsibilities also cover the certification of instructors thru the P.A.A. Educational Schools held in the United States each year.

1963 proclaimed the first Pro National Champion on the competition field and seven year's of growth find stability and a singular purpose in dedication to the promotion of the sport of archery as a livelihood.
